What's New in the?

Enter your information online with great ease! Use this totally free program to enter your details securely. It's easy to use and works with most browsers. You can create a master list of all your passwords and other confidential details. When you're finished, you'll never have to re-enter them again. Each of your web pages has a unique URL so you can come back to your site and resume where you left off

Airy Secrets Lite System Requirements: Windows 95/98/Me/NT/2000/XP CPU: Pentium III/486/386SX processor RAM: 128Mb (minimum) Internet: Fast Internet connection

When you purchase the Airy Secrets Lite version of this software, you will also get the product information sheet, the complete online instruction manual, a list of standard keyboard shortcuts for this software, An industry-standard but amazingly secure database is being built into the Airy Secrets Lite application. It will store all of your security information, including your password, your username, your usernames and passwords for each page of your website, and any other information that you'd like to remember. Once your information is in the database, it's never forgotten. The database can be set up to keep records of the sites that you visit (on an as-needed basis), giving you a helpful listing of your visited sites and what you did there. You can also set up the database to record, for example, the last 10 websites you visited. When you return to a website, you can select the last 10 sites you visited from the drop-down menu. This is a useful feature if you tend to return to the same websites. When you use your web browser, Airy Secrets Lite's database can be updated automatically as your browser visits websites. The database will also contain a table of the last 10 sites that you visited. When your database is up to date, you can just start typing and it will automatically search for the site you're visiting, and will type the page URL in the appropriate field. You can also search for a username or password, or any other entry that you'd like to remember. The database can store up to 128 different types of information, such as username, password, and URL for your web site. It will even save your credit card information when you enter it online. The database is kept completely secure and confidential. A password is assigned to the Airy Secrets Lite application to prevent other users from viewing the information. This software is very easy to use. Just start typing and your entry is filled in automatically. The software works with most browsers, and will allow you to remember more than 5 different passwords at the same time. The database can also remember your favorite search terms.
